

A New Digital Chapter Begins!

Over the past few years, KFUPM has been on a remarkable journey of transformation, reimagining its identity, expanding its impact, and creating a future driven by innovation, excellence, and global engagement.

Today, we are excited to share the beginning of a new digital chapter.

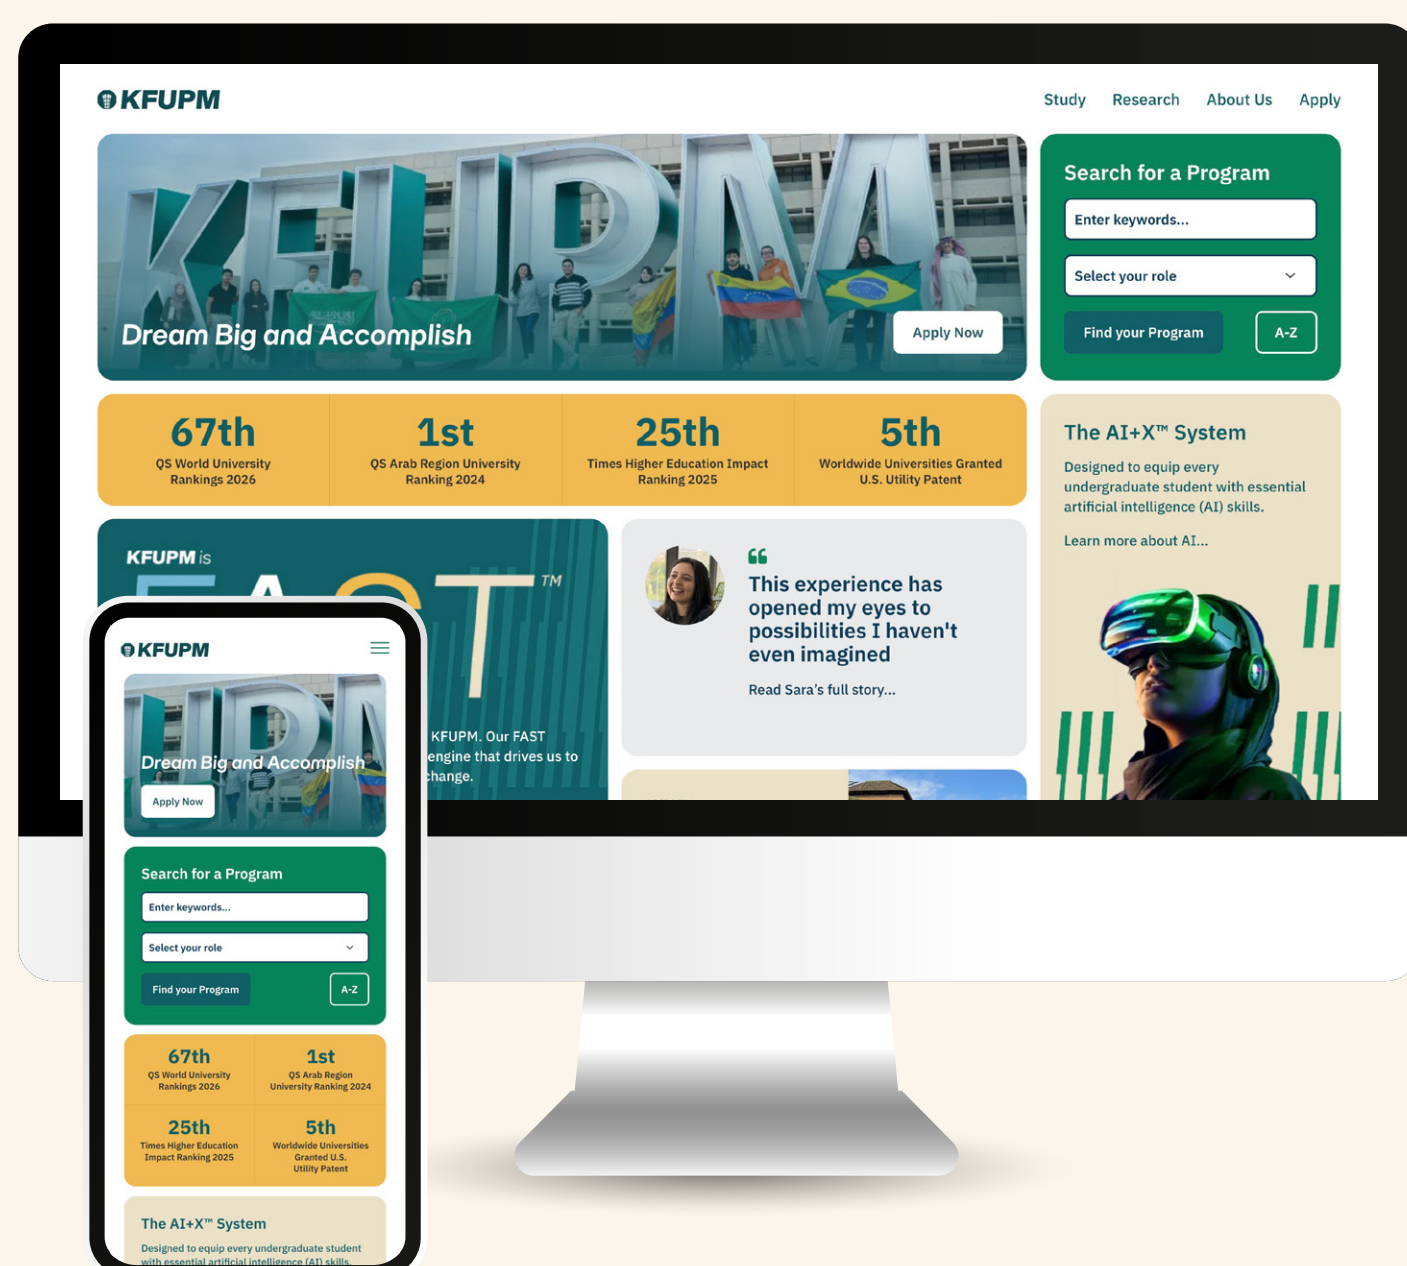

We are soft launching the new KFUPM website with a selection of key pages that reflect our evolving vision and commitment to a more intuitive, engaging, and user-centered digital experience.

What does this mean for you?

This soft launch is an invitation to explore, experience, and influence the future of KFUPM's digital presence. Your feedback will play a vital role in refining the platform and ensuring it truly serves the needs of students, faculty, staff, partners, and visitors.

Access to the current website

During the soft launch phase, the existing KFUPM website will remain available. Pages that are not yet part of the soft launch can still be accessed through the current platform, ensuring continuity of information and services.

Please share your feedback at: website@kfupm.edu.sa

Click here for FAQ